Technology Innovations That Address Water/ Wastewater Challenges in Upstream O&G Luncheon Roundtable

An invite-only roundtable for executives and investors focused on hardware and software technologies that enable improved performance, risk mitigation and promote sustainability in O&G

December 4th | 11:00 am to 3:00 pm | Barclays, 609 Main Street, Suite 3300, Houston

Mazarine Ventures, Barclays, and Fraunhofer USA Center for Energy Innovation CEI (Fh USA CEI) are hosting an invite-only luncheon in Houston as part of our joint interests in innovative hardware and software technologies that address the most pressing water and wastewater challenges in O&G exploration and production.

Without effective water management, there is risk of lower production rates, production halts, and regulatory penalties. Wells can be damaged, and drilling and completion programs can be stalled or compromised. Building effective water and wastewater-management strategies, deploying demonstrated best practices, and investing in innovative technology solutions can help convert water-management challenges into opportunities for business success.

Contrary to the traditional keynotes, panels, and technology pitches, this roundtable luncheon is specifically designed to create learning, sharing and networking opportunities amongst technology investors, corporate executives and solution-driven technology companies focused on water/wastewater challenges in O&G.
